You will turn right onto 9th Street; the Camp Geiger gym will be on your right. Alternate locations for graduation will be posted within two weeks of graduation will be posted within two weeks of graduation, so please ensure you periodically check for updates.

Warrior Breakfast (0700-0830)

Graduation day will begin with your Marine participating in the Warrior Breakfast ceremony. This meal is meant to recognize your Marine's transition from student Marine to Marine Infantryman. It is a celebration of the hard work he has exhibited during his training at ITB. In addition to his Company Instructors, members of his new unit will also be in attendance to recognize their achievement and provide a smooth transition from ITB to the new command. This event is for graduating students, the Company Instructor staff, and gaining commands only. Family members will be able to see their Marines upon their arrival at the Geiger Gym.

Rehearsal/Family time (0830-0900)

Upon completion of the Warrior breakfast your Marine will move to the Geiger Gym with his platoon and conduct a final rehearsal of the graduation ceremony. Upon completing the rehearsal, you will be allowed to visit with your Marines until the start of the graduation ceremony. A static display of infantry weapons, as well as a video of your Marines training, will also be available for viewing during this time.

Graduation (0900-0930)

Graduation starts promptly at 9 am at the Camp Geiger Gym and will last approximately 30 minutes.

Post Graduation (0930 - 1100)

After Graduation every Marine is directed to execute his orders to his follow on command and they are no longer assigned to Infantry Training Battalion. The Marine's schedule and your opportunities to spend time with him will depend on that Command. Each Marine's case could be different and we strongly recommend that you contact your Marine directly for details.

The majority of the Infantry Marines that graduate Infantry Training Battalion are given orders to Fleet Marine Force Units stationed on Mainside, Camp Lejeune and they will remain in the local area. We typically graduate on a Friday and most of the time the gaining Fleet Marine Force Units will check the Marine into the Command, assign him a room in the barracks etc. and then they will be granted liberty for the weekend. However, we must stress that it depends on that command's schedule.

A portion of each graduating class will have follow on schooling or will be assigned to a unit that is not local, like those assigned to Security Force School, FAST Company, 8th & I, and units in California or Hawaii. These Marines will have travel itineraries to catch flights or busses to their next duty station.

We cannot post Marine assignments or the schedules for their gaining commands on a public website. That information can only be obtained by contacting your individual Marine.
